

Mark Constantine

Mark Constantine is senior vice president for the Jessie Ball duPont Fund in Jacksonville, where he is responsible for oversight and development of the Fund's grantmaking portfolio, program staff and fellows program, as well as oversight of its program-related and mission-related investment efforts. Prior to assuming this position, Constantine served for more than a decade as a consultant to foundations and national nonprofit organizations on issues related to governance, strategy and learning. His clients included CFED, Danville Regional Foundation, Demos, First Nations Development Institute, Ford Foundation, Foundation for the Mid South, Lilly Endowment, Louisiana Disaster Recovery Foundation, Robert Wood Johnson Foundation, and the Southern Education Foundation. Constantine was the Jessie Ball duPont Fund's first senior fellow. In addition, he served as the assistant executive director of the Kathleen Price Bryan Family Fund.
